

Relentless Pursuit of Excellence: Core Value Chapter Synopsis

INTRODUCTION

- “Hilton Head Island has the opportunity to become the home of excellence. Becoming a laboratory where new solutions are developed and applied could help recapture the spirit and passion of the people.”
- The work group’s interest was strongly in favor of emphasizing this as a “people-focused” community that embraces and celebrates its history, culture and natural resources.
- There is interest in maintaining support for the marketing and mindset that fosters visitors becoming residents and home owners.
- HHI should be an excellent place to visit that attracts excellent visitors.
- HHI’s definition for excellence should be identified and adopted.
- Factors of excellence include:
  - The relentless pursuit of resiliency, transparency,
  - An environment that supports innovation and has standards,
  - Leadership,
  - Encouragement,
  - Celebration,
  - Creativity,
  - An attitude that fosters the development of new ideas, and
  - A mindset to continuously work towards exceeding expectations.
- How do we become an epicenter of excellence?
- Being excellent “requires pushing the boundaries on original thinking and being willing to invest the resources to make it a reality.”
- Hilton Head Island is “something special” and worth protecting. People in this community are passionate and want to be part of something extraordinary.
- “Engaging in the relentless pursuit of excellence offers a guiding framework for all the actions and decision-making on Hilton Head Island.”

ISSUES/ EXISTING CONDITIONS/ CONSTRAINTS

- There is concern that the residential community on the Island is drowned out by the tourism-focused economy. Work group members sought to bring back the ideal that this is a “residential-resort” community, with intentional emphasis on the residents.
- “Residential community” includes full-time residents and second home owners. There is no implication that the residential definition for the Island is exclusive of second home owners.
- The work group members expressed concern for the lack of education available about the Island’s unique history in the local school system.
- A program, metric, measurement tool or opportunity to continually garner input from the community about their expectations, ideals and input should be available.
- The need to improve aspects of education, transportation, access to and protection of the natural environment, cultural preservation, housing and work opportunities were discussed.
- There is a need to develop and build the Island brand as the Core Values and Our Ideals of Excellence.
- There is a need to keep striving towards building the Island community, instead of having numerous small communities operating independently.
- Hilton Head Island is no longer on the forefront of innovation and sustainability.
- Why is Hilton Head Island not the best place to age in the USA? We can become this!
- We should tap our resources better by engaging the incredible human capital and connections of the people who live here.
